A. Description of the Advisory Firm

CWM Advisory, LLC is a Limited Liability Company organized in the State of Maryland. The firm was formed in November 2018, and the principal owner is Harold Lynn Carmean.

B. Types of Advisory Services

Selection of Other Advisers Services

CWM Advisory, LLC directs clients to third-party investment advisers, specifically SEI, to manage all or a portion of the client's assets. Before selecting other advisers for clients, CWM Advisory, LLC will always ensure those other advisers are properly licensed or registered as an investment adviser. CWM Advisory, LLC then makes investments with a third-party investment adviser by referring the client to the third-party adviser. CWM Advisory, LLC will be involved in the initial and end phases of the portfolio management process provided by SEI. Initially, CWM Advisory, LLC will identify a client or prospect's investment goals and risk tolerance. SEI then works closely with CWM Advisory, LLC to ensure the client is placed into a SEI strategy that is best suited to meet the client's financial goals and needs. The asset allocation, portfolio design, investment manager selection, portfolio construction, tax management, and risk management are completed by the SEI Investment Management Unit as part of the investment process. SEI monitors the portfolio(s) on an ongoing basis and make changes to the above mentioned components as necessary. CWM Advisory, LLC should on a regular basis monitor the investor's needs, risk tolerance, and goals and notify SEI if there are any changes that may impact the client account. CWM Advisory, LLC reviews performance of all SEI accounts during their quarterly review meetings with clients. The client goals act as the primary benchmark for measuring account performance. Standardized benchmarks (i.e. S&P500, Barclays Agg, etc.) are used as well to provide context and relative performance data.

Prior to introducing Pennsylvania clients to another investment advisor, CWM Advisory, LLC will be responsible for determining the following:

- whether the investment advisor is registered with the Pennsylvania Department of Banking and Securities under Section 301 of the Pennsylvania Securities Act of 1972 ("1972 Act") whether the investment advisor is relying on an exclusion from the definition of investment advisor under Section 102(j) of the 1972 Act;
- whether the investment advisor is relying on an exemption from registration under Section 302(d) of the 1972 Act; or
- if the investment advisor is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and whether it has filed a Notification Filing with the Pennsylvania Department of Banking and Securities under Commission Regulation 303.015(a).

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

A. Fee Schedule

Selection of Other Advisers Fees

CWM Advisory, LLC will receive its standard fee on top of the fee paid to the third party adviser. These fees are negotiable. This relationship will be memorialized in each contract between CWM Advisory, LLC and each third-party adviser. The fees will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. Specifically, CWM Advisory, LLC will direct clients to SEI Investments Management Corp CRD#105146 ("SEI").

Total Assets	CWM Advisory, LLC's Fee	SEI's Fee	Total Fee
All Assets	Up to 1.00%	Up to 1.25%	Up to 2.25%

CWM Advisory, LLC's fee is calculated and deducted from client accounts by SEI Investments Management Corp. SEI's system will calculate the fee based on the market value of the last day in the month. The market value is multiplied by the advisory fee and then divided by 12 (months). The fee calculation will always take place on the very next business day while the fee will be deducted from the client account(s) around a week later. Fee collection may be staggered to allow for the system to raise cash prior to pulling the fees. These fees are negotiable.

Fixed Planning Fees

Fixed Fees

The negotiable fixed rate for creating client financial plans is between $300 and $2,500.

Ongoing Financial Planning Fees

Monthly Fixed Fees

The negotiable monthly fee for ongoing financial planning services is between $50 and $200 per month.

Clients may terminate the agreement without penalty, for full refund of CWM Advisory, LLC's fees, within five business days of signing the Financial Planning Agreement. Thereafter, clients may terminate the Financial Planning Agreement generally upon written notice.

B. Payment of Fees

Payment of Selection of Other Advisers Fees

Fees for selection of SEI Investments Management Corp as third-party adviser are withdrawn directly from the client's accounts with client's written authorization by SEI. SEI will then pay CWM Advisory, LLC their portion of the fees earned. Fees are paid monthly in arrears.

Payment of Financial Planning Fees

Financial planning fees are paid via EFT and credit card.

Fixed financial planning fees are paid 25% in advance, but never more than six months in advance, with the remainder due upon presentation of the plan.

Payment of On-going Financial Planning Fees

On-going financial planning fees are paid via EFT. CWM Advisory, LLC may also accept payment of financial planning fees by credit card. These payments are facilitated by AdvicePay. AdvicePay is a third party vendor that processes payments for CWM Advisory, LLC. The adviser has zero access to the client's credit card or banking information. Clients are required to authorize each charge via AdvicePay. Fees are paid monthly in advance.

C. Client Responsibility For Third Party Fees

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third party fees (e.g., custodian fees, brokerage fees, mutual fund fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by CWM Advisory, LLC. Please see Item 12 of this brochure regarding broker-dealer/custodian.

D. Prepayment of Fees

CWM Advisory, LLC collects certain fees in advance and certain fees in arrears, as indicated above. Refunds for fees paid in advance but not yet earned will be refunded on a prorated basis and returned within fourteen days to the client via check from CWM Advisory, LLC.

Fixed fees that are collected in advance for discrete financial planning but unearned will be refunded based on the prorated amount of work completed at the point of termination.

Monthly fees paid in advance for ongoing financial planning are not refunded for the month in which the relationship is terminated since the client will have access to the financial planning services for that month.

E. Outside Compensation For the Sale of Securities to Clients

Representatives of CWM Advisory, LLC in their outside business activities (see Item 10 below) are licensed to accept compensation for the sale of insurance products to CWM Advisory, LLC clients. This presents a conflict of interest and gives the supervised person an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation received rather than on the client's needs. When recommending insurance products for which the supervised persons receives compensation, CWM Advisory, LLC will document the conflict of interest in the client file and inform the client of the conflict of interest. Clients always have the right to decide whether to purchase CWM Advisory, LLC-recommended products and, if purchasing, have the right to purchase those products through other agents that are not affiliated with CWM Advisory, LLC.

- High-Net-Worth Individuals
- Charitable Organizations
- Corporations or Business Entities

There is no account minimum for any of CWM Advisory, LLC's services.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, & Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

CWM Advisory, LLC's methods of analysis include Modern portfolio theory.

Modern portfolio theory is a theory of investment that attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, each by carefully choosing the proportions of various asset.

Investment Strategies

CWM Advisory, LLC uses long term trading.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

B. Material Risks Involved

Methods of Analysis

Modern portfolio theory assumes that investors are risk averse, meaning that given two portfolios that offer the same expected return, investors will prefer the less risky one. Thus, an investor will take on increased risk only if compensated by higher expected returns. Conversely, an investor who wants higher expected returns must accept more risk. The exact trade-off will be the same for all investors, but different investors will evaluate the trade-off differently based on individual risk aversion characteristics. The implication is that a rational investor will not invest in a portfolio if a second portfolio exists with a more favorable risk-expected return profile – i.e., if for that level of risk an alternative portfolio exists which has better expected returns.

Investment Strategies

Long term trading is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Due to its nature, the long-term investment strategy can expose clients to various types of risk that will typically surface at various intervals during the time the client owns the investments. These risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Selection of Other Advisers: CWM Advisory, LLC's selection process cannot ensure that money managers will perform as desired and CWM Advisory, LLC will have no control over the day-to-day operations of any of its selected money managers. CWM Advisory, LLC would not necessarily be aware of certain activities at the underlying money manager level, including without limitation a money manager's engaging in unreported risks, investment "style drift" or even regulatory breaches or fraud.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

C. Risks of Specific Securities Utilized

Clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any investment strategy. The investment types listed below (leaving aside Treasury Inflation Protected/Inflation Linked Bonds) are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond "fixed income" nature (lower risk) or stock "equity" nature.

Equity investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate in response to specific situations for each company, industry conditions and the general economic environments.

Fixed income investments generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, leveraged loans, high yield, and investment grade debt and structured products, such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal. Risks of investing in foreign fixed income securities also include the general risk of non-U.S. investing described below.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): An ETF is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, similar to stocks. Investing in ETFs carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). Areas of concern include the lack of transparency in products and increasing complexity, conflicts of interest and the possibility of inadequate regulatory compliance. Precious Metal ETFs (e.g., Gold, Silver, or Palladium Bullion backed "electronic shares" not physical metal) specifically may be negatively impacted by several unique factors, among them (1) large sales by the official sector which own a significant portion of aggregate world holdings in gold and other precious metals, (2) a significant increase in hedging activities by producers of gold or other precious metals, (3) a significant change in the attitude of speculators and investors.

Real estate funds (including REITs) face several kinds of risk that are inherent in the real estate sector, which historically has experienced significant fluctuations and cycles in performance. Revenues and cash flows may be adversely affected by: changes in local real estate market conditions due to changes in national or local economic conditions or changes in local property market characteristics; competition from other properties offering the same or similar services; changes in interest rates and in the state of the debt and equity credit markets; the ongoing need for capital improvements; changes in real estate tax rates and other operating expenses; adverse changes in governmental rules and fiscal policies; adverse changes in zoning laws; the impact of present or future environmental legislation and compliance with environmental laws.

Annuities are a retirement product for those who may have the ability to pay a premium now and want to guarantee they receive certain monthly payments or a return on investment later in the future. Annuities are contracts issued by a life insurance company designed to meet requirement or other long-term goals. An annuity is not a life insurance policy. Variable annuities are designed to be long-term investments, to meet retirement and other long-range goals. Variable annuities are not suitable for meeting short-term goals because substantial taxes and insurance company charges may apply if you withdraw your money early. Variable annuities also involve investment risks, just as mutual funds do.

Commodities are tangible assets used to manufacture and produce goods or services. Commodity prices are affected by different risk factors, such as disease, storage capacity, supply, demand, delivery constraints and weather. Because of those risk factors, even a well-diversified investment in commodities can be uncertain.

Non-U.S. securities present certain risks such as currency fluctuation, political and economic change, social unrest, changes in government regulation, differences in accounting and the lesser degree of accurate public information available.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.
